

BSR E1.21 PR1 Limited Public Review Explanation

The recently approved ANSI E1.21-2023, Temporary Structures Used for Technical Production of Outdoor Entertainment Events included changes to correlate with new requirements in the 2024 International Building Code (IBC). The published version of 2024 IBC added an unanticipated new clause that resulted in a shift of subsequent clause numbers, in turn resulting in erroneous IBC clause references within E1.21.

This limited revision corrects the erroneous IBC references, and clarifies two items associated with those references, so that both documents are again correlated with each other. In the draft standard offered for review, the necessary changes are highlighted in ~~strikeout~~ underline legislative style format.

The scope of this public review is limited to the revisions noted in the draft, and only those comments pertaining to the indicated revisions will be considered.
